【概要】
The English language, like any language, is about receiving and transmitting ideas within the framework of social boundaries. This class will introduce the four major skillsets -- speaking, listening, reading and writing. However, this course is not only about honing these four skills, but also about fostering a desire to embrace new ideas within an international worldview. The student will be provided with challenging tasks to generate ability and confidence.

 2. Practicing active listening by encouraging continual conversation.
 3. Contemporary writing: composing appropriate email with set goals.
